Report of Committee. The law and order citizens met presuant to a call of the Committee appointed on Thursday evening last, W. K. Edwards presiding and J. H. Blake Secretary. The Committee, by C. Gilbert their Chairman; then submitted the following report and resolutions, which, upon motion of Col. R. W. Thompson were unanimously adopted.

Report of the Committee appointed, at a meeting of the citizens of Terre Haute, held on the 22d instant, to inquire into the outrages committed by a mob on the night of the 21st instant.

The Committee submit the following re-

They have been in session nearly the whole of every day since their appointment, and have made the most diligent inquiry into if there is a place in the United States where the matters committed to them. Having no the mob spirit receives no encouragement, power to compel the attendance of witnesses they have had to rely upon the statements of those who came, voluntarily, before them. But they had no difficulty in procuring the attendance of any whose testimony they de appear and testify. Their duty will be discharged when they embody, in as brief a form-part of this city, and marched, under the com-mand or officers, through several of the prin-ciple streets, until they reached the office of tie "terre Haute Journal," a newspaper which has been printed and published here for a number of years. Upon reaching this point they placed guards at several points or access to the office, and formed a line in front of it, in the street, so as to prevent any interference. They then or as many as were necessary for the purpose-entered the office and completely destroyed it, by throwing into the street every thing that was moveable, and by destroying a printing press which they were unable to remove. They then proceeded to several houses of ill-fame in the city and drove all the inmates and threw all the furniture into the streets. They remained in the city about two hours when they left

There is no doubt about the fact that the persons who composed this mob, were some of the outpany officers and men of the 43d regiment of Indiana Volunteers now stationed at Camp Vigo, about a mile north of this city. What number were concerned in it, it is impossible to say, as they are variously estimuted at from about two to five hundred. And, where so many are concerned, it is impossible to identify them with centainty, especially where they acted under cover of night, and when all the persons who saw | ty of this outrage, and bring them to justice them were under more or less of excite-

It is difficult to say how far, at the time of this arrangement, the purpose to be accomplished was made Governor and Adjutant General of the State. the great body of the men, evidently, supposed that they were only to destroy the houses of ill-tame. It seems, however, that, after they had left the camp, somebody prooffice, when the proposition was put to vote and carried, wherenpon, they proceeded im-mediately to the office and destroyed it.

Inasmuch as it is impossible now to iden-tify the individuals who composed this mob, the committee find themselves compelled to resolution was adopted unanimously speak of the soldiers of the 43d Regiment in such a way as may, possibly, seem to include more of them than were present. They cannot relieve themselves from this difficulty in any other way than by saying that, so favor of the speedy payment of said losses. far as they can judge, there were some mem-bers of all the companies present, except those commanded by Captains Lane and Eddington, none of which are believed to have city. been there. Nor are the committee disposed to regard the men who were present culpa-ble to the same extent as those officers who commanded them, for many of them, doubtless, acted under the belief that whatever they were ordered to do, they were bound to do. By their oath they are sworn to obey their officers.

Neither the Colonel nor Lieutenant-Colonel of the regiment were present. The former was out of the county and the latter had leit the camp just before night, leaving it in was at a hotel in this city when he heard of the mob, and hastened to the spot with all possible expedition; but the injury was done before he reached there.

However much the citizens of the trust to the efficiency of their municipal autherities for their expulsion. They have not called upon the soldiers of the 43d Regiment, or any other military authority, to supervise their public or private morals, and apprehend that the voluntary interference on this occasion arose, not so much out of anxiety for their welfare, as out of the private grievances of the parties concerned.

The committee can imagine no motive for the destruction of the Journal office. As to that, the outrage was wanton and unproveked. The editor of the Journal has always expressed, and the committee believe that he has always felt, a sincere attachment to that he has ever given these soldiers any valuable acquisition to this Department. ceason to suspect his loyalty. He has lein for many years a citizen of this city, and has Brown, is now acting as Quarter master in spect. The injury indicted upon him is cuti. place of I. W. Hart, Esq., captured on the

The committee have made every effort in their power to ascertain whether or no any citizes of this city had any thing to do, ether directly or indirectly, with this mob -They have sought information upon this point from all parties from whom they supposed it cou d be obtained, and are gratified at being able to say that, so far as they can avortain, not a single citizen of the city was connected with it is any way, or had any propoledge of it until the mob had made its at tack upon the Journal office - when those pres-

This is a most commendable course of procedure, and the Committee hope it will result in a more complete identification of the parties than is in their power. And in view of the difficulties of conducting a criminal prosecution in the courts against so many persons as composed this mob, and of the fact that they are soldiers of the United States,-subject to military punishment—the Committee are of opinion that criminal prosecution would be entirely fruitless. It might, also, excuse the non-infliction of military punishment which, if properly visited upon the guilty parties, under the general order of the Colonel commanding, will be more salutary and remedial. Several of the most distinguished general officers of the army have declared that they will inflict the severest punishment upon those soldiers who commit depredations even upon the property of rebels. How much more then do those deserve it, who commit violence upon the property of a loyal citizen, engaged in his peaceable and legiti-This is the first act of the kind that has ever occurred in our city,-which has always been distinguished for its quiet and good order, and the Committee are convinced that such a transaction could not occur amongst our own citizens. They have too much regard for their individual character, and for the haracter of the town, even to seek redress for either real or imaginary injuries by re-ort to mob violence. We flatter ourselves that

But such a transaction as this, on account of its improved character, is calculated to create an unusal degree of feeling-not to say excitement, in the public mind.
